

Mrs. P. Peckart

^{Amhurst}
The Manor House,
Chislehurst.

Nov 22 x 99.

My very dear Friend.

My whole heart is with you, and since I heard of your great loss, my tears flow with yours each day, and yet, all the sympathy, and love, all, must feel for you, is of little moment,

Grace
remember with deep sympathy to your Son,
My dear
dear measure
Believe me
as ever,
Yours in affection
Grace Redpath.

but, we know that the Great Burden ^{God's} ^{Grace} ^{Redpath} ^{will} be with you, to sympathize, and comfort, as now can.
May His felt presence overshadow you, is the prayer of your loving old friend. When I look back, I often find comfort, and thankfulness, in the re-membrance, that I was blessed with the society, example, and tender tender devotion, of my be-loved husband, but, God saw it was the very best, to leave me here, a little longer, to learn many lessons, much needed, to bring me closer to Himself —

Thus friend, after friend joins the blessed company, before me - I could not help think-ing that my beloved, would welcome yours, in the world of light - Bye & Bye we shall know more about all the joy, that our loved ones have entered upon. till then, we wait our loving Father's will, and are assured that He doeth all things well.

I would be near you dear friend, if only, to hold your hand in mine, but our loving Father will take it, each morning, & help & guide, each day. & He will never leave you, till you join your loved husband, in the Home prepared for those who love Him.
