

Xenia Theological Seminary.

FACULTY:

REV. W. G. MOOREHEAD, D. D., Pres't.

REV. J. D. IRONS, D. D.

REV. JOSEPH KYLE, D. D.

REV. D. MACDILL, D. D., LL. D., Sec'y.

Xenia, Ohio, Nov. 29, 1899.

Mrs. Margaret A. G. Dawson,

Dear Madam;

I have received a marked copy of the "Montreal Daily Star", containing a very interesting account of the death, life and character of your highly esteemed and now much lamented husband, Sir William Dawson.

I had no personal acquaintance with your husband, having never met him. Yet I was acquainted with him through his valuable writings and greatly esteemed and revered him.

In his death both science and Christianity have lost a most able friend and advocate. Throughout the United States his departure is regretted by a large number of friends and admirers.

I sympathize deeply, Dear Madam, with you in this affliction, this to you irreplaceable loss. I have experienced affliction

Xenia Theological Seminary.

FACULTY:

REV. W. G. MOOREHEAD, D. D., Pres't.

REV. J. D. IRONS, D. D.

REV. JOSEPH KYLE, D. D.

REV. D. MACDILL, D. D., LL. D., Sec'y.

Xenia, Ohio, ..... 189

myself, and I well know how weak and unavailing on such occasions are all human words of consolation. You doubtless know the source of all real comfort in the time of bereavement and sorrow. I commend you to the tender care of the God of all comfort and to the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is a comforting thought that we shall hereafter see our departed loved ones. You of course have this consolation.

May God be with you and bless you.

yours very truly,
D. Macdill.

Dr Masdell
Genia Theo Seminary
Ohio a

Genia Theologica

McGILL UNIVERSITY
ARCHIVES
ACC. NO. 1463/115
REF. 65

FACULTY:

Rev. M. G. Thompson, D. D., Prof.
Rev. J. D. Wood, D. D.
Rev. J. W. Wood, D. D.
Rev. J. Wood, D. D.
Rev. J. Wood, D. D.

[Faint, illegible handwriting on the lined pages of the notebook.]