Dear Madam,

Death has its mournful recompense in that it reveals in retrospect the talents, the virtues and charities which serve to soften and humanize mankind.

In the death of one so loved and respected as Sir William Dawson, Canada has lost one of her most illustrious sons, McGill University one who stood high among those who hold aloft in their representative capacity the beneficent rays of science.

The Ottawa Valley Graduates Society of McGill University, of which Sir William Dawson was the first Honorary Member, desire to express their deep sorrow and extend to you their most respectful sympathy in the loss we all have sustained.

On behalf of the Society.
