My dear Mrs Dawson

Thank you ever so much, for telling us so fully about the different instruments or whatever they may be called & all the more so because you do it as a pleasure. A kind thing done so kindly, makes me feel it doubly pleasant to receive.

I do not think Mrs Nelson would like the arrangement of the Electraphone, as you describe it. If Mr. Sumner is willing to part with his, I think the folding arrangement of it would be an advantage & we would like to have it very much, leaving you to fix whatever price you like for it.

If his cannot be got, we would like the address for the Audiophone very much.

Although, as you say it is only an experiment, still it is one worth trying & we shall be sure to let you know what its result is.

I know that it is just your delight to do kind things so quietly, that one scarcely knows who has done them; but you must let me say, how very much we thank you for finding all this information out for us. I shall try & spread the good by telling all my deaf friends about it, for I do feel so sorry for deaf people -
I heard from Miss Nelson today,

She told me of the death of the gardiner's wife. I think we spoke of her to you - poor thing I used to think the contrast between her life ours so painfully great, but now it is greater, for I am sure she has gone to be with Christ.
Happy as my life is, I would rather be there too.

We are still interviewing the public, or perhaps I should say the "private", as it is mostly really dear friends who are coming to greet us.

With warmest love to you & yours

Ever believe me

Yours very aff^{ly}
Sybil Wilson
