

If your kindness in asking her to visit you, & much regretted not being able to do so - Please say my very kind remembrance to Sir William & with much love for yourself Ma, Anna & Anne
 Believe me
 Always your affectionate Sister

You are so very considerate, that I think you will understand why it is, I have not written to you before; since we came, there have been so many things all wanting to be done at one & the same time, that I have just been scrambling along doing what had to be done first & finding there was no margin left. Chance guests have dropped in for a day or two days at a time & the visits being short, one could not leave them, as one would have done had they been remaining longer - We were so sorry to pass by without even a glimpse of you, & I can quite believe there would have been no danger; but as home duties were calling loudly & in any case we could only <sup>have</sup> remained for a day, we thought it unwise to run the risk of strange cabs &c. - I know that you will be really glad to hear that I am perfectly well & all my friends say so & even add that I am quite fat, which is something no one ever said to me before -

Mother was very well all the time we were away; but we were both vaccinated on the ship & it has made her feel quite miserable; but I hope she will soon get over that small ailment. We enjoyed our summer very much, we spent five weeks in the Highlands, at a most lovely place Glenfeochan not far from Oban & from it we made all sorts of delightful excursions.

That was what I enjoyed most;
but we paid a good many very pleasant visits after that & received most unbounded kindness.
Miss Mary Moore came out with us for the winter, she is the daughter of a very old friend of Papas & is a very dear bright girl, I only hope she will enjoy the winter as much as she expects to do.

It is very nice to be at home again, for it is true that in spite of all that is beautiful & enjoyable there is no place like home -

We find brides needing to be invited at once, among whom Professor & Mrs Hutton stand first. Then next Saturday we begin our students parties - A Missionary meeting also reminded the Secretary that she must attend to her duties.

The Bishop of Saskatchewan gave us such a splendid address upon the occasion, that I felt only too glad to be able to help on the work, even a little -

Mr. Parlame & Lena Hill spent a day with us, as they were on their way to Quebec for her to sail by the Sardinian. We saw her mother in England. & she was very kind although we had not time to accept many of her invitations but Eva will be more interested in news of Lena than you will be - she spoke so gratefully
