Dearest Anne

I am so unwilling to miss our mail & personally to thank you for your nice letters that altho' I am exceedingly poor I write a line. Papa & you I hope have met & talked over at the subject of Inna & I would ad I have advised my advice for I was at was no I shd first try to ascertain if I were not come. I think me over than any kindness was my heart in our journey.
I have not been for anything particularly for the Browns & any thing nearly as costly as a deer, is impossible. It is marvellous how many things turn up to us - money. I do not wish to send me another large sum of money you will please give my Cordial thanks to William Rankine & I am for this nice letter. Yesterday I was shopping helping to choose James wedding things & am hurried to get out on a second days shopping today. I intend to return to Burntisland tomorrow & with an easy mind enjoy the remaining weeks there.

George is thoroughly enjoying his holidays but grumbling at the distractions from reading I have an uncomfortable feeling of having something I specially wished to buy but cannot read. You can quite
