My Dear Anna

I am glad to hear that your mind has returned to its "wonted serenity" & hope it may remain so. I write to explain a slight mistake made by you in the rendering of my last letter. The "next time" clause was not intended, (as you have erroniously imagined) to refer to you but to H. For whom I still have hope, & think that-after the post-shock life will be found not to have lost all its value.

Tomorrow, Sunday, I have promised to go to the Andersons for dinner. I had also previously partly promised to go to the Casells but must put that off till another time.

If you could make up your mind to break off your lectures & come down here a while I should be very glad. Will there be any natural break or ending to the course? If you Care about coming down please let me know about when you could do so. People are occasionally leaving here & it is probable I could get a room & applying in time.

The ice bridge has been formed now a good many days, but is not yet quite safe, several boxes having gone through. This is on account of the mildness of the weather.
Day before yesterday we had quite a thaw.

Write soon to all shopping to hear from Rankine or Eva if they can find time to write.

Your loving brother

George
