Thursday Nov. 15th / 83
York Hotel.

Dearst Anna.

When we returned here last night ^{at 11.30.} I found your welcome letter wh: you had addressed to Chislehurst. (This is the right spelling) along with one from Mr. C. wh: gives Ample thanks & love, awaiting me.
Also a note from Mrs Redgate telling me of Eleanor's engagement formerly announced to her. — do funny or no funny it is sealed.
Of course a host of curious questions about arrangements crowd upon one — time will show however. I look to hear of Mrs Slater's amendment. — Mr & Mrs Red Greenhills are now in London. Will try to drop to call upon them. but distances are an insuperable difficulty. Our programme for today is lunch with Mrs King & afterwards drive, when we hope she will take us to return one or two distants — calls such as Dr. Rae & the Tappers, Papa.

gave out to secologues dinner - is I will have a new experience that of being alone per tea - dinner is too dear 5/6, tea 2/6 with only toast & butter. the hug cake I eat by itself. but I shall never tell you another secret of ^{I find} you show my letters to any one. you are welcome to read all the letters but only one can be fully confident.
We met such delightful people last night Mrs Charles - writes of "Chamberly letter". Sir - Bennett one of the most natural Physicians. I rather - to was so nice for himself has met my heart your wife & we have decided you dress - it is among the fashionable shades grey & slate are the newest. I shall try to send it by friend the little parcel by Robertson & the one I hope to get by the 8th are all gifts for you. to be first shown them.
I don't want anything bulky to find or not choose cloaks & dresses to. but you will excuse my sending the silk as a present as it relieves one from expending thought as to what to get. Glass is moderate & so pretty but alas for the difficulties of transportation! sales per store are. they say to hear of your fingers - had thought of it as a just reward. I am sure you must dress lovely Cecily. Can't not give a charm for that as well as 8th Coler I think you should take quinine & iron for some time after Pray don't get into poor Complexities hopes I come back to sympathize with you. Long thanks to Edith & Clara for letters. Hope Eric got his "jack". Love to Bernard "mother"
