Dear Mr Harrington,

I had hoped to have heard from you as to Eric's progress & condition but I have heard nothing since you left. I received the telegram asking for a thermometer, which I got Chapman to send and which, I hope, you received safely. - I hope that Eric is improving to some extent, although I am afraid the very hot weather will not be likely to do him much good. Still, in the Mountains, it should not be quite so oppressive as it is here. - I hope also that you are getting some rest yourself. You will in great need of it, when you left. - If you have time I should be very glad to hear something of Eric, but do not write if you are too tired or too busy.

With very kind regards
Believe me,

Your very sincerely
Arthur A. Thomas
