

the Quarterly Journal of Psychology and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

the Journal of Psychology
and the Journal of Comparative Psychology
and the Journal of Experimental Psychology

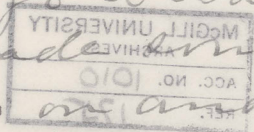

2

Indian ranks higher in the opinion of medical men generally than Loomis does and the more I think of it the more it seems to me that the question is to what is to be done for the winter must be decided by Indian and that of course means that he will have to see Eric and we must see first the confidential case has been brought about. In a time I am waiting to hear what Washburn has to say and I had a long talk this morning with Mrs. Milson who is as full of kindness as ever and ~~is~~ determined to do everything in her power for Eric. She wants us to find out what is the best thing to do for Eric & for the winter and she is ready to defray the cost whatever it may be. She is full of the idea that you should be with Eric and speaks of you

with great admiration and affection. I can assure you it gave me great pleasure to hear her praise you as she did.

The results are in your hands.
He called right before last to enquire after Eric and both of them came up yesterday afternoon to see the children.

If I could go to Elizabethtown tomorrow she would go with me. He is unable to go with her as he has made some engagement to go on another expedition.

Ruth seems disappointed being in a lower class than Rachel; but she has the advantage of being in a small class - only 6. If Class had been promoted she would have had to go back in the afternoon. It is very fortunate that Ruth gets out earlier than Class.

Love to Eric & yourself from your loving husband Bernard.

It is a very difficult visit.

