

Sometimes
I compare notes
with you instead of each other. I'm here
to remind all-absolutely
to remember
your old friend
& to send me the
pretty photo of your
"baby," though a
ouncing one I should say from his counterfeit presentment. I had no idea he was there! How time

does fly to be sure & we are flying too
I suppose! I should very much like to have a photo of
your dear self, if you have one to spare.

The last I have was taken years ago, with all the children, &
I have a very pretty one with one of the
hairins, I forget which.
However probably
like myself you
do not bother much
about such trifles
finding the daily

round quite enough
I am only too thankful to be able to go through the daily round ^{through} ^{of} affairs & to be with the children
There have been
naturally, many things to see about & re-arrange, & how
that-everything is in good running
order & the summer
clothes seen about

The paragraph
did not say what
department of the University was to be endowed, or whether it was a sort of
general fund.

Mr. Macdonald
certainly has made
a good use of his
wealth, & he has no

family ties apparently to divert the free-
tipping stream of
his benevolence.

I see Rankin's marriage is shortly to come off. You will then be a very much
married family.

I heard indirectly
that you expect Eda,

& her children out.
Dra's three eldest
children are now
in England. They have made great
sacrifices to send them
but they are clever & studious, & will I trust do well. Dear old Dra I wish she
were not so far away & that we could all

one seems to have
time to take breath.
I saw in a Buffalo
paper that - Mr
W. C. Macdonald
had offered nearly
a million dollars
to Mr Gill on condition that - the scholarships were done away with.
I hope this is good news for Dr. Harrington
