My dearest Anne

It was very touching thru with your my claimants for special attention you should have given time to send me so many precious kisses & loving comfort as a parting gift. I am glad too that you are able to say thru the clouds now so dark will pass - thru he who carries the glow my love so open his heart thru, "the sun of righteous men will

While I live in & dispel all unhappiness.
 & thus the long drawn sorrow of others may abundantly bear the fruits of patience, which are experience & hope. Suffering is not a bad prop to strengthen faith, in some Cases, altho' I delight to think of you in new & I trust interesting Scenes which you are quite able to turn to your account. We come off each day of your voyage & now are on the tiptoe of expectation of hearing of the arrival of the "Parisian". When we shall feel pretty sure that you are safely transported again to private life.
 Where all the "new ideas" you have picked up." may be used as special blessings to that beloved little circle.

 While I think of it let me give you Linn's address. Mrs. Pettigrew. 40 Mrs. Inghettis. 41. Northmount Crescent

Mr. & Mrs. Shirley called on Saturday to say adieu as they & their summer daughters sail for here Wednesday for England. Mr. & Mrs. Gault also sail a little later & Katy Galt accompanies her Aunt, Mrs. Lawrence, to Paris at the end of this month.
 I may go to England for the coronation.
 I expect Mrs. Purdy here on Tuesday to sail on Saturday 17th. After this, if the way seems open, I propose to give my attention to preparations for Peter's.
 Jane Henschell seems to go on 3 months

Clara & Ruth luck doing this part well, cheerfully & wisely. I don't know whether you remember father's saying—that the best proof of any institution, as household, being well organized is its power of running satisfactorily, for a time, with human superintendence.
 I hope Miss Fair to stand this test. Pappy has, I understand, written you a daily letter since you left & the Competition is so keen, among all the others, as to who is to write. Thus Clara is going to make a table of dates giving a due share of the privilege to each, so I need not apologize for shortening my poor little scrap, but add only my loving best wishes that you will be very a useful & truly happy one & assure you that love & prayer will accompany every step of your way. Mother.
