Dear Mrs Hamington,

I was much grieved to read in today's Tribune that my old friend

Prof Hamington had passed to his eternal rest - It has been my pleasure to have known, admired and to have him as a friend - as he was of my old friend Prof Eggleston.
I hasten to extend to you my heartfelt sympathy in this the great bereavement and to assure you that one who has been so noble in all his work must find a home with the one who alone can comfort all of us. It is rarely that one spends so long and useful a life and makes so many friends all of whom feel the better for having met him.

I know that Dr Hamington has not been well for a time. And he may be spared earthly pains by his release from earthly pains.

We have just lost our only son of 24 who died of a heart attack after a ten minutes illness.

Believe me in sympathy
Very sincerely yours
George S. Kins
