

will be all in the family, I am² quite satisfied

I do not think I have left anything behind that I need, at least I have not discovered it if I had. Stamps I had none & you have supplied that need. Perhaps it might be worth while to send me the vol. of Hanna I have, for I have only read half of it. & Sunday reading seems very scarce here I can find nothing to read yesterday except a Bible, in the long country Sundays we want a little lighter reading.

Papa & Eva are expected tomorrow William adheres to his idea, & goes back to Quebec today - Eva has been to lunch to meet Lady Dufferin, I had invitations & attentions in plenty - The weather here is at present very pleasant, the first two nights I did sleep in my dressing gown, but now I can do without it - I am as busy as a hawk & very sleepy day & night. The real sea-sickness dizziness possessing me entirely

Little Eric begins to confuse papa & mamma, calls your picture mamma, & when I then address me as papa - he evidently is gradually concluding that both parents are, a myth & combined in me - The little monkey went - splash, into a pool yesterday in the few minutes we had him on the shore -

Very confused, this letter is, dear, but - perhaps tomorrow I shall be more collected, & say more of all the hundreds of things that I do say to you - I'll everything about home & yourself - dearest - I do be careful & not sit-up late or do anything to hurt - my dear precious husband - ^{William} you see any of the Bergers please apologize for my not having said good by - as I was not well -

Loveingly -
Your Wife
