Dearest -

I read the papers last night - till I was aware you really must be having a capital time - Those ladies who expander on Indian affairs must have been most entertaining & what a very superior & advanced female that must have been who discoursed on "cross-heredity" before the medical section - Dr. Lee too must have been capital, & lots of the other things seemed good & I have been retelling them to Eric much to his edification -

My head is still very stupid I hope I am not going to develop neuralgia - The day will not be ending before I may hope to see you again - If any of the other come I have asked Madame to send coffee - If you only come you might bring some also a little box of nice wintment among the medicines - Eric has some of those dry laking spots on his face again.....

All well dear, & still lovely weather - you will not forget that letter paper has given
