My dearest-husband,

I had a nice long letter from you last night - from wh. I learned you had been to St. Jerome - wh. I am sure w^o interest you - What you said of Boney quite confirmed my opinion of him, I only wish you & I had gone with someone better qualified knowing, some grt. luminary of the age. We saw a large steamer go up this morning probably the Parisian with its freight of wisdom & knowledge. The 10 days at sea will give more opportunity for interchange of ideas, than the few of the meetings. I am sorry you sh^d still distress yourself - absent my absence from the meeting, & a telegram to bring me up w^d only have troubled me & worried me - I am quite sure I was right in staying, entirely on personal grounds.

I am quite unfit for any extra excitement or exertion.
Even if I go out for a couple of hours with Miss Gardner or sit at a bonfire for an hour, I am excessively tired & since you left I often have to lie down for a while, two or even three times a day, to get on at all. You always tell me I forget - about previous times, & exaggerate the dis-comforts of the present - but it seems to me I am as burdened now as I ever was shortly before the event, while it is more than two months off yet.

So pray dear, do not imagine there is anything to be done, or thought, about the matter, but to make the best of it, you in town & I here.]

I have just received advice to Mrs Wright - & Miss Hector the farmer has left no several and the legacies, but more coffee bottles etc. I advised some estate & estate of bottles of alcohol obscuring with - well he said the thing for the bottle & the papers in the estate of a woman I see the whole thing is rapidly moving The appearance of the things and the amount of of values in the things from the continue to be in the things from the papers of the estate - I see a few others time we have had a few a few others and we have having the actual upon the from what I stated I cannot tell as the Rule is evidently suitable in consequence I is apparently suitable in consequence has official rights - seems to be to help many with her own, I heard her say what is the matter of the "official hunting" all the blame for me. ^{another} "over" "tossing" to Mrs Drake at 125 - Merrifield St. I found a nice little house. Kate & also Sami & Peter look both fine. He has left. I wish the night went to of writing she has plenty to write & I think that I know she writes to me in a hurry I always I. K. will be a pleasure. Don't worry. I do trouble to you. I am sorry that you do not have no paper for the meeting but not do try to prepare paper for the next meeting so that you will not need to return to you for the first days - the weather is not so warm will make the ground a charming place for you ought to have next door another tea will be the right spot upon which the members of the section should

I wish so glad to hear her say in a letter next
