London, June 30, 1885

Dear Dr Harrington,

I am sorry that I have not seen your card until this afternoon though I was here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday last.

We shall be very glad if you will come and see us at

Chislehurst

Chislehurst. My wife and I are now quite alone, that is I expect to find it so when I get home this evening. We dine at 6.30 and as we expected to leave for Scotland today we have no engagements for this week. There are trains from Charing Cross at 4.5 4.55 5.2 5.35. The first would enable you to see the park before dinner. but if

if you choose a later one it will be all the same to us. If you can stay over the night we shall be ^{still more} much pleased.
There are plenty of trains up in the morning - let us know when you can come -

Yours very truly
P. Redpath
