

Wentis
Friday
June 1887

Dearest Bernard,

Your short letter of Thursday I got last night. It seems to take so many days for letters to reach the date of a telegram & I am anxious to hear that you are rested in some degree & better; I daresay Robertson will take more pains for you than our venerable family ~~physician~~^{doctor} you want - feeling up & rest, & exercise - do dear take a daily ride. When Mrs Gibb has so kindly provided you with the saddle, & all the cream & eggs you can subsequently. I make a paint of going early to bed do dear make a deep mark in your conscience as to all these matters, I know you will do your best to take care of Laura but do not feel so sure about your dear self. If Laura seems to give up in a heartless or hopeless fashion, w^d it not be a good move to take her to town for a few days to buy what she will want I dread her bearing the loss too well, for the present & then suffering more later - I do not refer to the pain of a loss the greatest all, because the greatest severing of a tie that cannot be renewed in this life - that that every child must bear with pain & grief - but to the thesis of these to keep up. I hear on out - is so beautiful.

Here we are all under the clouds hoping glorious - I lately improving day by day... he has actually learned how to create progress with out. so much of early intelligence, is it not?
It is the feeling to be here make the first to place his hand and when he gets it - or his hand there is no doubt about the results, results - Therefore to be here Secretary or Wednesday - with paper - every thought is with the I every come here also from Secretary A little better.

~~Joseph~~ Joseph Garner
Garner