

B. J. H. out West. (Coal beds)

Litete Notes

Aug. 16th

1888

Dearest -

A short-note is all I can manage today as I had to write to Frank It is pleasant - to have Carl & Mrs Fortin wish you to stay at - Winnipeg - but I don't feel at - all - inclined to gratify them, the summer is going so fast - now, I don't the hotels are parting with their guests, & the quiet-time returning that you always enjoy so much & W. nearly had a dreadful accident - yesterday - our boys Eva & Wilfred were out in the boat - beyond the haul rock - W. was sitting in the stern, & suddenly went head over heels - into the water, disappearing entirely

A foot-rappard in a moment & Mr B - dragged him by it into the bath, the child shuddered & dattered & creel wetter cold & fright - & when home was of caecic rubbed & bathed in hot-water & put to bed - he seemed all right - last night - sleeping quietly when I saw him his mother has not come back from town -

Papa continues to do well. Dr Oliver says the healing of the wound was marvellous but - before he
upon great prudence - papa was sitting out doors on the upper gallery for a time which was a great relief from bed - I do hope that you will get light
will enable you to give an opinion satisfactory to yourself - I have heard several times of Mr Cochrane & the Lady Adelaide - but current remember who was speaking them - unless it might be honey - Or thinking it expected towards me will not be long without a medical advice

The currents are not doing well the only poor crop - as far as I see they have been unimpaired - I think the total - poor must be gathered below & the beams are still in good position, I gave one deal to another, I have not heard of these from ever since, I sent some to the boys - the flowers are some -

The children have got some clay I am all caring of modelling with paper of - on the gallery - so attending to the withed - that I had to secure lessons in powers of the clay - Lovingly

Anna

When I begin to be writing on at this success in hope of good learning will on a hope with the end
