

Letter Lucie
June 29th 1903

Dearest Bernard,

We were so glad to hear from you, from Lucie & Kimauski. I had to set out with a bad head, but it always seems to attend any attempt at pleasure on your part - you are at any rate having the best weather for the July that has been for weeks - I am, I quit - I not so better cold. I had an amusing letter from Joseph - I would "claude" the pants & watch arriving but hope they did, as also that you got our letters, we wrote both to Lucie & Kimauski & registered all.

I will send copy of Conrad's report, as the report - it may as they should reach you in London. He certainly is not high up - It is a ju Coris pholas, we will send on as 4 as 5 of the 6 which came, in look a little sentimental.

Here we are still all laughs Lais had a prodigious face, but kept - pretty calm in spite of starvation & inability to eat. It is better now & was heard exclaiming, "I feel as if I were full of new wine, I want - someone to laugh with". "I can eat quite fluently now" etc - It has begun to swell two days later & his little peaked chin runs back into sad humps - garnished with dust - turned ears, she has been pretty sick with high fever & so on but I think is a little relieved today - It keeps us all in confusion for I brought her down when Lais was first - ill & then down his back not to infect our room of Wednesday & proceed better and everything was falling far delayed coming, & only arrived class is to go to Matthews' on Wed. & hope his things will both go. I hope the vessel will sail the week very soon? Long, but does not in what seems to me need, make things, why color of requiring relief by paying money = bills is piling up, but we are very well along just now. Capital will enjoy every thing

I also hope to have made a good impression on the states maybe a good opinion held by that class with much, for class is so wide - I mean some quarters so important - to not know how much further there ever in his
