

Litchfield

Aug 3rd 1903

Dearest Bernard,

We were very glad to hear of you again from London. I wish you did not tell us much of what you had been about & Cor. did not tell us anything. We have heard more through Maria's letter than from either of you - but we give it all out as well as we can. I did expect you to give us a P. R. address, but as you have not - must continue to bother her to remail letters in the hope that you have given her directions.

The weather has now arrived with a settled air, & Julius is arriving itself, Dr. Farber's dance comes off tonight - tomorrow Kaar gives a picnic. (Tell Cor. to notice how this name is spelt, he wrote it from Rube another way), Dr. Kops is giving a drive on Wednesday - he has been here several times & it is good to hear him talk of the sundads & the squirrels, & the creatures - It comes to me like native air, after the "venic" conversation. I often have to listen to

We had a rousing sermon from Bishop Balduino on Sunday the Eng. Service reced beautifully & slowly. & the text John's declaration I know that my Redeemer liveth & shall stand at the latter day upon the earth. He thought that all our hard ground in these late centuries, ~~can~~ not make up, if we had lost that triumphant faithful was clear as to his belief in God & his pains & also clear about the evil one - whose names as given in Holy Writ he recd over, & a grand & awful list they were. Being of the Nature of the Air = God of this World The Spirit - who now warrelth in the children of disobedience :-

Tonight Mrs Badgely is coming to tea - at Mrs Holson's with her little daughter - We are trying to have a garden tea, but there is so much going on - I hope we shall manage it this week & have it next Mrs M. is keen about it. She sends her love & says she is well & happy: she is a little more exigant than she used to be: I never meant to be quiet - a minute - but Helen is capitulated, so quietly influential & tactful: she is a dear girl.

B.S. never shamed me in letter from you, just vouchsafes one or two lines & I did not ask him further: as no one sh-be developed about this letter - I fear there will be trouble all the making - I have not calculated on man-ing him to cheer - - probably all the young boys here as at it - this year & very likely it is an older time to him but Barbara is a slave to it - & it is going to mean great - resolution & break of the habit - I am not a - account for his essential defects - the dull absurdity of his actions & so on - & he does not read & wonder of anything just - been, some have any interest he and I away & I hope we shall have a few poems written at - the end of the season - kept back is his pugnant - comparison & he seems a nice fellow, more letter than I read, - & I think they are well enough employed of & backing up the boy, as with the wrong methodology & feeling degrading the ball for the dance The girls are as nice to him as can be - I always tell to do anything for him, & once in a way we see him and had an idea of he is very agreeable & every one to like him - I believe has had a very recent case of help of his letter was been affected in this way - I think I - Barbara & Miss Edna's account - like completely & I may another success there with so much & don't know what to do going to do about it - working I very to overcome - I decided - if this will catch the main part must - try - by the way I want to see Mrs. Capshaw & she told me she had asked her to help in the kitchen I had wanted her to help for her, she did not say or I understood had not taken any further notice did not like to say more closely, I do not know whether he a capital & did not go - as whether he was only by he had, but - I wish you was not give him some tips to social etiquette for their ridiculed any part of deed - I have much material - It might have been wholly a misinterpretation - but if it were like so I understand you of say a part of your own we must be happy = ...

We are all very well - I regret we had written long during last, as there is nothing important in back, I could try you - S. & work hard as ever the crowd of details - I do hope see you with both & that the other boy is learning something, I think more. With our love