Dec. 2nd 1882

My dear Harrington

Can you undertake the Analysis of the two enclosed Samples of "hop substitute?" They have been sent to me by my brother-in-law, who is anxious to know whether there is anything deleterious in them, and also to know whether their preservative Qualities are good. —

He wishes the two to be kept separate in the analysis so that he will know which sample each description belongs to. —

You may not be aware of the fact that the price of hops is double, or more than ever, that of ordinary years, so that it is an object, if the enclosed article is a safe and good one, to use it. —

Of course, I need not say, that Mr. L. wishes it to be a confidential matter. —

He will pay all charges

Connected with the Analysis as soon as you let me know the Amount. —

It is an object for him to know as soon as possible, as he is now brewing weekly. —
Believe me

Yours very truly,

A. M. Brown.

Monday morning.

I open this to enclose a third sample wh. I have just received. - Mr Labatt believes them to be all the same article
