

March 23/88

Dear Dr. Hanington,

I send you a little paper herewith, not because I expect you to feel the faintest interest in the contents, but to remind you that there is a summer, a fact about which you as well as I may have been led to feel some doubt lately. I think if I were to be as advantageously situated the coming summer as the past, I should not be satisfied with bringing the Beluga skeletons home with me, but would bring along the whole animal, with the view of having a supply of suitable food in case this is really the advent of a new glacial period.

In spite of the cold I have worked off several papers chiefly on fish

Anatomy - Since the Catfish was finished in summer my energies have been directed to the Gaussids, and are now concentrated on the Blind-Fishes.

Childright is still at Clifton Springs, I had hoped that she would have acquired strength enough to cross with me in April, but she has not been at all well recently, so my visit ^{to Scotland} ~~there~~ will be a very short one - We shall probably spend the summer in the Adirondack as the mountain air appears to suit my wife better than the sea.

Ramsay Wright, Toronto
I shall miss the Royal Soc'y meeting again, but that is immaterial, as the only paper I could have sent is going to the Zoological Soc'y,

With kind regards to Mrs Hamilton

Yours sincerely,

R Ramsay Wright.
