Hampstead, N.W.

June 19. 1885

My dear Dr Harrington

I was obliged last night to leave my letter incomplete because I could not clearly remember my engagements of next week, but I write now to say that I hope if you have nothing better to do you will come and done here on Monday at 7.15 to make my sister's acquaintance - I should have liked to have asked you to come and take up your quarters here, but more unluckily my small amount of spare room is filled up till I go abroad at the end of the month, Why did you not write to say you were coming to that I might have kept a room free?

Hoping you can come I am

Sincerely yours

Fly Bonney
