

Park Avenue Hotel
New York, Dec. 15, 1898.

My dear Dr. Harrington,

I am very much in your debt for the invitation to be present at the inaugural of your magnificent new building, but it is only three weeks since I returned from Europe and I cannot go North until next summer. It was reported in the N.Y. EVENING POST last week that Mr. Macdonald is to be knighted on the occasion of the formal opening of your building. He richly deserves the honor, and I trust that it may be accorded to him.

Sincerely Yours.
