Dear Professor Harrington.

I hope to have the pleasure of being at the Reception tomorrow evening, and most heartily congratulate you on the completion of your beautiful building, and his fitting recognition of the value of your works. I remember always with pleasure and gratitude the privileges I enjoyed as one of your pupils long ago, and had I been called to that profession I should have sought nothing better than to continue my studies under your guidance.

Yours most sincerely
W Henry Harrison
