

I take it for me for see you promised you would see me back to us soon. I see you that you get the first one from you had, and give me from wishes to her, and say we must to her taking of you

Mamma arrived safely at Lubee on Sunday morning (yesterday) and we are all now reunited. We
lamb of the flock -
but we all think of
you and pray for you,
and hope you will not feel lonely, remembering that God cares for us every where.

I received the Tracts
and drawings all safe.
The latter are in the Supervisor's hands and the paper will go into type for the next issue of the Patriot, with a note at the end
from Whiteaves about his dredging.

Find that the order of the species in the table is not that of the Clapnetting or I am cutting it into strips, and putting it together in the proper order; but this will not be much trouble,
I am much obliged by your sending the fossils from Turin and the Corallites and fishes are very interesting. The Curious biplicate spine is a thing I have not seen before. There are two species of Lepidodendron I am not sure that there are two of Lepidodendron; but I shall look at them carefully, and
give you the names

When I have examined them, I have had no time yet to look at the specimens with the care which I brought; but hope to do so by and by.

about a sum of 2/1 which I promised to pay to Dickson Leedsman, head of Leitch Lack. If you have not time or money in hand,
do not mind it; but in that case write to me, and I shall send him a P. O. order. Mamma says she received a bill from some one in London and fears she left it behind. I cannot remember any bill I left unpaid; but if you find it please send it to me.

Allow me to remind you on going back to London of my expectations about taking a comfortable hunt in the middle of the day, with a cup of coffee if you like it,

and always a chop or steak or slice of meat. The expense is nothing in comparison with health and strength, and you need a good nourishing meal in the middle of the day. When you go to London, please call on Ethelidge, and ask if he has expended anything for joints or my behalf, and let me know that I may repay. Call also on Beryl and Garies and give our very kind regards, and say I will write to Beryl very soon, and thank him for his letter to Mamma at Edinb.
Please also send a statement of your money matters, as I shall remit very soon to you.

With love from all of us your affectionate father
McDowen
