

Montreal Sept 30th /76.

My dear George

Don't fail to write me some of the details of your sojourn in Scotland. I feel to suddenly lapped off from friends & interests there. besides the pleasure of being able by acquaintance with the people & places to follow your descriptions. I am glad you had courage to take a little trip in the lurch before you left. You said nothing of your impressions, or whether the weather was fine. Anna has exhausted the news of our present circumstances. & as I have spent the forenoon shopping with Mrs Stuart I have returned very tired. I only add a postscript to remind you that I do not forget you. I think I am getting over the effects of my own walk.

to be forth. I have not before told you how unwell I felt in Liverpool & how nervous I became but I shd be prevented from having; it is hardly worth mentioning that now as I hope I have nearly got over the whole trouble. It was some affection of the bladder I certainly had taken away nearly all the past week I think I got during our stay at Barmston.

Please say nothing about this in reply. As I say as little as possible about feeling unwell, papa & Anna wd feel disappointed & I am certainly better. I am am very careful.

The houses this year are more beautiful than ever. William has most kindly gone this afternoon to try to get me some. I am so engaged.
He has left a letter to you informing if he shd not return in time you will know the reason of its being sent to Please excuse this. I cannot write today.

Believe me your affectionate frances.
