My dear Dawson,

Many thanks to you for the magnificent present you have sent me — I shall value it much both on account of its own worth and for the giver's sake. I am only sorry you did not write my name in
it. It will be a reminder to me of the many pleasant days

Spent in your camp among among the Cumberland Mountains; and I trust we may yet have many more geological observations together - My folks here send their very kind regards to you and any other her special thanks for forwarding the parcels ^{as} promptly as you did.

The weather is wonderful, I am sure I have walked over 100 miles these 5 days and my legs feel as if tomorrow night to be Sunday. I had not heard anything about Herdys's new work, but am glad to hear of it. We had our first meeting of the Literary Society last Sunday, when we ousted our old secretary, and got a new one. I have proposed to read a paper on "Traces of the Early History of Mankind" as an antidote to Fothergill's "Descent of Man" - This week I am working mostly out beyond

Barrisdale for the winter.
Auntie has not yet turned up. I need hardly say that I miss your company in my studies very much — I am looking forward to getting my holiday at the end of this month — Ever

Yours very truly
J. Clifton Ward —
