Thanks for your Notes on the Locust Invasion which I have just read with great interest—You have approached the ^{SUBJECT} subject in the right way, and treated it admirably—How broad is the belt of ~~coniferous~~ ^{coniferous} timber between the North & South Saskatchewan? Could not the "Coteau des Missouri" support such a belt & in a large measure protect Manitoba and the north-western states, or does it tend too much to the N.W. to be of much service—Your suggestion is worth close consideration Cambridge $\frac{8.4}{76}$
