 April 94
 Wednesday to Paris Montreal today on his way to Ottawa - it is hard there - because - old La Cite is much older a slight audience that I have been in some measure taking heed to your wise & kind advice & thus filling up my time between work & rest & so allowing more for Curious-perience. It certainly looks to myself as if I had been lacking in Courtesy both to our own family & all others. Now I have no longer any excuse as the tail of arranging & settling things is over. & we are very comfortable, there has not been a tradesman in the house since Midley of last week, although many of our friends advised themselves of its being my day "at home" to call to do me?

 & the house. On Saturday I took lunch with the Campbells, meeting friends there I have had no intercourse with per the visitors. In the evening Anna Bernard & Florence took tea with us We also having been expected here he has been detained in St. Johns. So the flow of daily life is resumed with once & again extras added as per instance this P. M. Anna & I have arranged to go down to the Colby to try to come to some decision as to what is to be done with the surplus of things left there. This, in my mind, is made more complicated by the prospect of Perkins coming here so soon, because if he should have the slightest leaning towards remaining here it will influence him a little to find that he can't so easily furnish an office & bedroom - anything that we keep towards such a decision is to me valuable although I still keep to the intention of me trying to persuade him to do so - If I knew that he was determined to leave us again I believe Clarence & Anna could pretty well make use of what there is & I wd be glad to make an immediate disposal of them but the Jawmies sh^d want the house. I to lose our mind by getting all settled. Bernard started yesterday m^o his N. Y. - He has to work day & night to get ready & he has Peop: Callandus who accompanies him. B. has gone charged to do his utmost to persuade Pope to allow En^d & the Children to come to us at Indis this summer. He wants E. to postpone coming till he can join us, but we really w^d prefer to have her alone, it is so difficult to provide occupation & amusement for a man of his tastes & active habits. I get an objection to say so. because we sh^d be really glad to see him if you or P. were available to help to entertain him. As you do not require any entertaining we shall give you a hearty welcome
