Dear George,

Many thanks for your kind note from Iowa.
I had intended to acknowledge it at once but was interrupted, and this warm damp weather has run me down very much.
I hope you have it better in Ill. I feel in writing now ^{as we say} that we are all much as when you left; but I feel that I am weather and presumably nearer the end of my journey. I shall therefore be very glad if you can without having too much return early enough to do me one more, and to have as early intimation as possible of the probable date, and whether you can give us a day or two here on the way. I have many things to say if I am able at the time; but cannot attempt to write now, if necessary however I may be stronger for writing provided the weather becomes cooler & brighter.

In the mean time give my good wishes to Ani and Helcha and to any old friends who may ask for me. I must close yours ever affectionately

Dear George. Do not be alarmed by the purgains - a clamp close they oppress him. He has been unusually hale & has walking fr room to room without assistance a chief difficulty is how to keep him occupied

We have not heard further of Will: so far as we know he has not reached Atlanta. We hope to see him in course probably this week.

dear
Mabel
