leave... I don't wish to try - you because I know ~~how~~ kind you are - always willing to Come if you can.

Another

know something of how busy you are ⁱⁿ Can therefore the letter understated the many details of arrangements there have to be made before we leave for Metis, which we had settled to do on the 7th but on telephoning today to secure the parlour of the Pullman found that it was kept in reserve for a party till they gave a definite decision on Thursday just, & the only other day next week that we sh get it is Friday the 9th.

If we fail to secure it by the 7th I will have many things now settled to readjust, besides being kept two days in suspense. But why sh^d I retail all this unless to give you a glimpse of some the matters that occupy me.

In a note I had today from Will he tells me that he continues to sleep excellently well - fr 9. P.M. till seven A.M. & that time does not hang heavy.
Miss Lum & W. Campbell have been at Miss Wanda's since I left ^{Shy} returned yesterday & yesterday my Mr Tho. Malson & Miss Hill were there so he has a certain kind society with friends.

I am really deeply grieved (in some way) to hear that Florence has again caught cold. It is really serious that she should be so sensitive to chills.
 I am going to try to see Miss Taylor & stir her up to take some action in this matter. For instance to stay a day with her on her way to Paris & consult some of the specialists here. Or go herself to see J. & bring down one of the keys to relieve J. while making her preparations.

Father continues much as usual.
 We are, at the moment, on the of a drive & I fill the time writing while waiting for the Cab. Clara I suppose is now with Rankine in London & Eva about to return to the Maples, having had only a short month at Seaton House.

As my aunt told you Blanche Atkin's engagements, to a Mr Jackson, a Liverpool lawyer, who has long wanted her, they will probably live in Park Street. Clara is an ardent admirer of Blanche's & says it will be difficult to find any one good enough for her.

Now hastily I must say what induced me to write, viz to ask if you can spare time to come to see us before we
