Birkenshaw,

Little Metis.

Thursday

My dear George

Only a line to thank you very very much for the numerous & most excellent photos. There Birkenshaw an unknown place, within gettable distance, I would take a long drive to have the pleasure of seeing it! I feel sure that Clarence & I will be delighted to get a set & I will like — if not asking too much, to have a duplicate of the one with also Thomas in it, it will give him so much pleasure.

Rankine leaves today by 4-30 train & I suppose hopes to reach Attama tomorrow Friday eve.

It is really difficult to get a satisfactory talk about the biography, but Anne & I had think that a sketch of father's character, as a man, apart from his work, & the effect <sup>that</sup> of his inner spiritual life had upon all his other gifts is desirable as a classical chapter. Possibly St. Hursey cd do this if free fr the ceaseless pressing

And that now summoned her. She determined what new arrangements have to be made about education as respects me, & her thoughts just now - after she is not be remembered more precisely. But these are more random suggestions not worth a second thought. In talking of what not published to Spenser & Agnes he hinted, very markedly, that his father had much leisure time now & that, he was sure, as a favourer of Mr. Gill's papers should do any thing he could as critic or writer, here there is another most kind. I may add that Mrs. Kagan says; has published several books on the lines & teachings of the O. S. prophets.

I have written this hoping I will add that the photos have given much real pleasure that I want again to offer my sincere thanks

Yours affectionately

Pharos
