Dear George -

I don't think it is any use trusting to M. speaking to R. - she is really unfit for it. I have really angred her, by trying to force her, to demand fr. R. - what he was doing. ever since he came out, & when it might have saved some of this = as a matter of fact both you & I knew from the first - that R. shd never have been given a hand in this business. I did speak very strongly to M. about it, - but seeing how hurt she was, & wishing to do anything she wished, I just helped you to slide into the acceptance of an untenable position.

also I do not think R. at all realizes your position, as what we all think of his conduct - I do think you ought at once to write to see him, & give him the last chance of offering any explanation, or trying to undo what he seems to have done.

Surely you might write & say you have been depending upon his promise not to publish & waiting for some statement of what he is doing, in accordance with the conditions of Jasper's letter;

If it will do any good I will do or say anything you direct, but I fear it wants more knowledge of men & things than has always been rather scarce of my opinions.

Bernard is in bed with a grip attack & the usual bad head - I fear he has had or three bad days to put in.

The rest are well - The haemipsets are troublesome but don't distress me much.

Lovingly
Anna

We must remember also that N. has always known our honorable name & is now I believe acting under a delusion: that others he speaks to the actual fact, & has intact he must be considered

I think we intend to speak to R. to day - but as I said I should like to say any way, & it is very herald upon her
