

HODESLEA,

STAVELEY ROAD,

EASTBOURNE

June 5. 1892

My dear Dawson

It would give me very much pleasure to see you offer my congratulations on the distinguished career which has followed the days when you were among my students - My health broke down six or seven years ago - and although now

HOBBSLEY

wonderfully better - I am obliged to live out of London & resume hard work of all sorts. My wife has unfortunately been very ill lately, as I would wish you to pay in a visit & take a healthy fresh air in my cottage here

I had no opportunity of studying the few weeks during the cruise of the Rattlesnake I feel more lag in the time of our work - And perhaps

Dr. J. Braden Brace & myself as Commissioners with later that as my answer to your official letter.

A few weeks ago, however, an American friend of mine Mr Whitridge, who was over here making evidence for the <sup>United States</sup> ~~American~~ Case - wished to retain me on their side. I told him I would be retained by nobody; but that I would very willingly go into the matter & give him my opinion - upon the evidence attainable. This I did.

The general effect of what I wrote was that the only effectual way of dealing with the Jockey was to put it under the ~~jurisdiction~~<sup>administration</sup> of a joint Anglo-U.S. Board
- the by-laws of which should be internationally recognized.

I shall be in London on Friday and at the Athenaeum Club between 12. & 1.30 - If you could make it convenient to call between 12 & 1. we could have a chat

My wife desires very kind remembrances

Ever
yours very truly
J. H. Buckley
