Dearest Frankie,

Thank you

much for your delightful long letter from Marseilles & also for the letter to Eric, & the capital pictures of Chinese & their boats. The men evidently represent different classes or trade among wh. the headman was conspicuous Edith is dreadfully shocked at the carelessness of the Celestials about their daughters, & continually refers to it in some form. You do not seem to have received the letter I wrote to you, wh. I am sorry for not on account of their importance but that you sh^d lack outward visible token of my remembrance & ever affectionate thoughts from - all the family here are thriving Edith has lost her two lower teeth, & large new ones begin to appear while connected by process, men I recd - when I forget to receive but the little for an acknowledgment to parcels - as for the winter his affection for me has wonderfully increased - I think he has a dear idea that the little is in the journey, I may succeed to me

But received very enthusiastic about it - I was quite grateful for your little praise about athletics, as Eric chooses you the partner of all perfection -

you will be more likely to hear of me than from me next time, but I hope it will be good news - there have been so many sad endings to such cases lately, among my friends & acquaintance, that it strikes the heart it will be some years I fear in your order, before hearing them to their fate - your very best wishes to have been so successful, I hope the next way to success as, how long will you remember me very long

Eric's mamma is a coarse liquid with faint & jagged of uncertain length wh. give him a curious air; & heeth is continually feeling in the back of her spine for some unknown irritants wh. will presently appear as the final teeth of her baby set & with patheticall remembrance that a hard apple was very hard for her, as she c^d only eat with her hind teeth - Thus from a medical point of view you will perceive that the whole family ~~are~~ is teething - & I am now residing

West - of her times & find it well put & interesting, & not so remarkably one-sided as you seem to think, unless a strong flavor of personality is I think desirable in such work if it do not make the author wilfully suppress or darnish

Wagner does I think take some pleasure in his new honours - & I sedulously endeavour to remember the correct style of my parents as I have already been several times

Our hope therein I received have been in for a few days, I see I am at the Collyer at Harris - he sees 'repaired to advise me - but that is only one of the on this - I may be however he is undoubtedly however at all events I amusing too - I say keep well - I say at last - a reward - who seem to intend stay, but is a great comfort.

Write love from all the family affectionately yours
Anna
