Dear Rankine,

I write to-day not that there is anything to write about, but that it seems long since I wrote. We are now, after much travel and sleep, enjoying keen feet and snow. Carnival respects "bonnie", and the presiding supper it is hoped delicious; but the winter has on the

And Sandstrom, who is very pleasant. We have a great fight here over Co-education and separate education for women, and I am getting the end of abuse about it, which I hope women to remove;
but do not care very much, as my time for attain work is I feel drawing to a close and I am endeavoring to set my house on order, so as to be ready for any change that may be rendered.

Weeping by Farling Vignette.

We have not heard of you for some time, last letter you ~~from~~ ^{Bombay} Na Sam Kameas I think; but we hope the latter part of your voyage has been pleasant, though you must feel somewhat dull after loss of the Regals.

I should thank you for the beautiful elephant, but you send me, if I have not done so before, with all best send warm love, Ever yours affectionately,
Wm. Dawson
