

A photograph of the entrance to the Burma Pavilion at the 1962 World Expo. The building features a traditional Burmese architectural style with a multi-tiered, ornate roof. The word "BURMA" is prominently displayed in large, stylized letters above the entrance. A crowd of people is gathered in front of the entrance, and a sign with Burmese script is visible on the left. A flagpole with a red and white flag stands to the left of the building. The sky is blue with some clouds.
