Dear Rupert Jones

Subscribe 4 this for love of Clack & me & now & then give us a few gossipy lines of Geological clack

Yours truly
C. Spence Bate

Fellow of the Clack Club

8 Montpellier Place
Plymouth

Clack!

A Journal of Literary Scientifick and Artistick Talk for One and All in ye Counties of Devon and Cornwall.

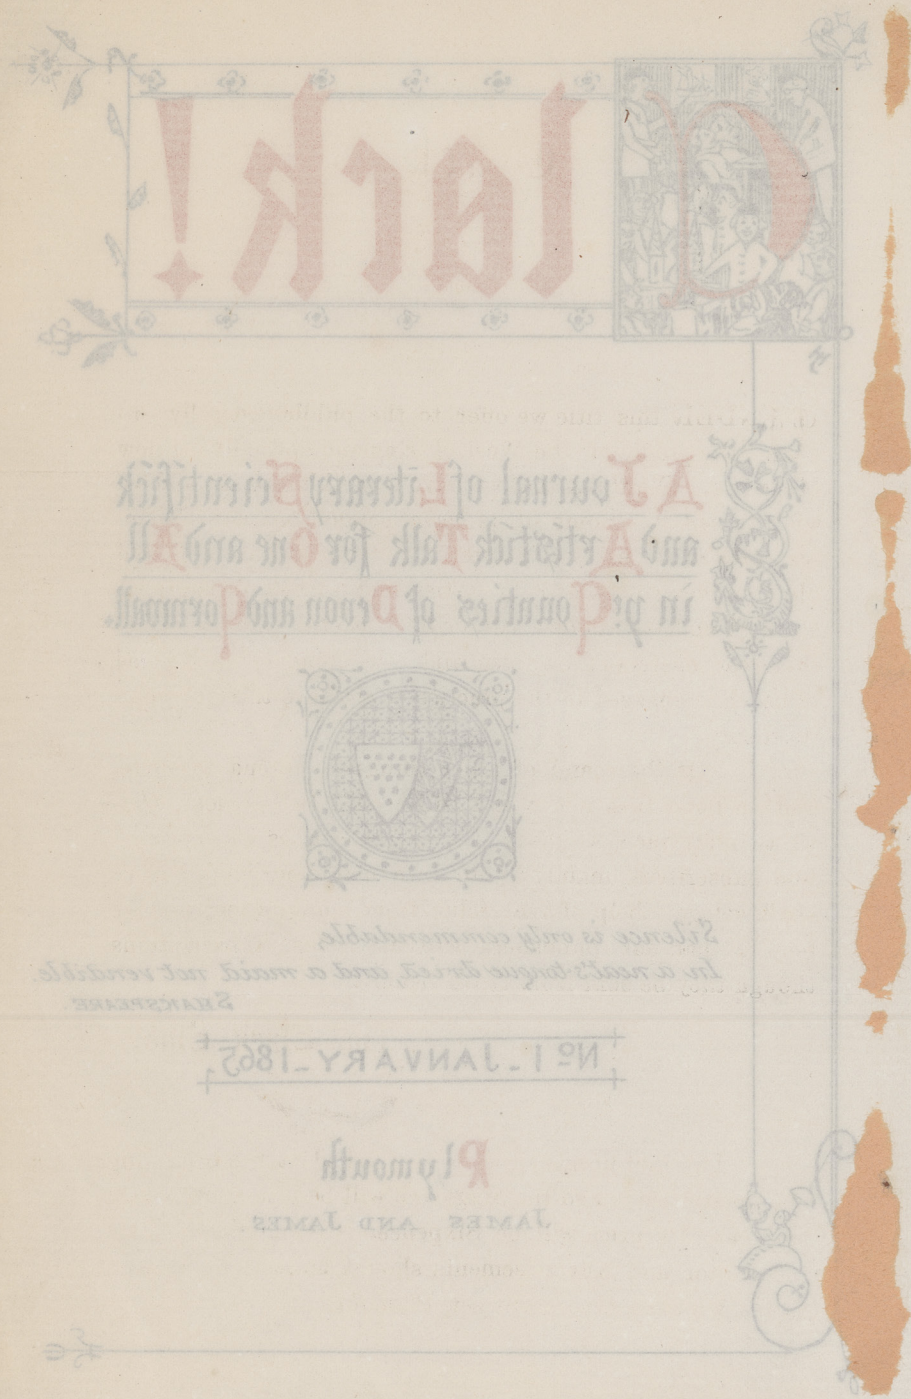
Silence is only commendable,
In a neat's tongue dried, and a maid not vendible.
SHAKSPEARE.

No 1 - JANVARY - 1865

Plymouth

JAMES AND JAMES.



BLACKER

Clack.

"Silence is only commendable
In a neat's tongue dried, and a maid not vendible."
Shakspeare.

UNDER this title we offer to the public generally—to the public of the West of England specially—a new Magazine. We think that we have something to say and we wish to say it. Some of us have sought out the hidden treasures of the earth and waters; some of us have explored old churches, rummaged old castles, and learned old legends; some of us have studied with critical attention the works of the great masters of our own and other tongues; and some of us while engaged in the practice of art have thought upon its theory.

Of these and of other things we intend to write, and we hope that not a few will read. Being most of us west-countrymen, we mean to seek material as we expect to find subscribers, mainly in our own neighbourhood, but we shall welcome help of real value from any quarter; and we believe that our publishers will not refuse subscriptions though they be sent from Nova Zembla.

The Clack Club.

The first number will be published at the beginning of January, 1865, and the Magazine will be issued every two months. Its price will be Sixpence. Communications for the Editor and Advertisements should be sent to Messrs. JAMES & JAMES, George Street, Plymouth.

BLACKER

8, Malgrave Place,
Plymouth.

Dear Professor Jones

Please sign the Enclosed & return the Same to me -

An Envelope & the Brit Association

Jonathan
Thos Bate

July: 18: 77

Authority on Crustacea