Pls. return

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS
DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY
URBANA, ILLINOIS

29 June, 1917

Dr. Casey A. Wood,

7 West Madison St.,

Chicago, Illinois

My dear Dr. Wood:

Upon returning to the University for a day I have found addressed to me a copy of your magnificent volume. Not to many books does the adjective apply, but it certainly does to yours. I am very glad indeed to have it, and I shall take pleasure in going through it with care as soon as I have the time. It promises to shed light upon a good many matters about which the psychologist—especially the comparative psychologist—is curious. Please accept my congratulations and my thanks.

Faithfully yours,

Madison Bentley