Dear Sir:

Your letter of March 11 was duly received. We should be glad to get a complete story of the experiences of the four Illinois boys you mention, but we do not have a representative in that immediate locality just now. Perhaps one of the boys might furnish us with the essential facts of their experience which could be worked up into an article. If you care to encourage them to do that, we should be glad to see the story.

We herewith return the photographs enclosed with your letter.

Sincerely yours,

The Editors
