Dear Mr. Duteau:

It is most kind of you to offer me the use of a few pictures. Will you be good enough to mail two or three to me at your convenience; and if, in the opinion of the Art Editor of the Ladies' Home Journal they are sharp enough to stand embarrassment, we will use them gratefully.

Sincerely yours

Dear Sir:

We are in receipt of your letter of December 17th, and the present writer doesn't know just what has become of your former letter. Probably, however, it has been held up in the effort to obtain some information about the subject you mention.

We are not contemplating publishing anything "on colors," if we understand what you mean by that. I need hardly say that we shall be happy to give you any possible information about anything we have in prospect.

Very truly yours,

Henry W. Lewis
