My dear Rupert Jones

While thanking you sincerely for your active kindness in reference to my American affair I beg your permission to congratulate you most heartily on your happy decision to restore to your heart its only true vitality. Lose no time in any mistaken etiquette as to dates & to live alone is not life but only Hybernation

Thanking you again for allowing me to read the fragment of Sir R's letter which so intimately concerned me and which I herewith return with renewed thanks

On the accompanying page I have endeavored to sketch my views and intention in regard to the restoration of the largest fossil ones to reproduce all the giants of the american fauna in the Central Park in New York
