Dear S. Sherborn

I omitted in my last note to thank you for the "Notes on Bibliography, Publication, and Nomenclature", with it bill and at the same time, this terse information & critical treatment of the subject -

I am also much obliged for the sight of the "Naturalist", a very good number, especially the Obituary of Robert Law whom I met at a meeting of the British Association at Leeds & Halifax.

He was indeed a wonderful self-taught geologist & did a great deal in educating others in the same line - he was straightforward, plain & honest, truthful and hard-working.

I met also Mr Cash the writer of the Notices with A. Smith Woodward & others at Mr James Davies' at Halifax.

D.A.S. Woodward was here last Sunday and kindly looked at my neighbours' diggings where two specimens were visible of Hertfordshire puddingstone.

Yours very truly
Thos. Rupt. Jones
