My dear Doctor Ridgway:

I have a cyclopedia of the medical worthies of the past, some 1648, and in carrying on my investigation and digging out the biographies of men who are worth while, I always feel the greatest interest in those who spend their spare time in the pursuit of any of the branches of natural history. I am trying just now to get data about W. J. Hoffman and E. E. McChesney. Can you possibly help me here with biographical data, or refer me to any source?

Very faithfully,

Howard A. Kelly
