Dear Mrs Sharpe

It is with real sorrow that I see the announcement of the death of your father. He was a dear old friend of mine, whom I loved & admired as much as anybody who really knew him. I know how keenly you & your sisters must feel your loss, and I assure you of my sincere sympathy.

Yours very truly

Dear Bowdler,

My warmest Compliments on your well-
deserved long delayed promotion, & the more as I believe it comes with it a Solid addition to your Salary. May you live long & prosper &.
What an age it is

Dear Sharpe,

I am glad you manage to get to a Stanley meeting.

De Winton's address is War Office, Pall Mall.

Why not let Jones & Caldecott call at

19 G. Scottish Lane,
the Office of the B. S. A.
Company, Rec Mr
George Cawston, the Most important man in the Concern? He could use my name,

Yes; plenty of hope for a novel panel & Nature, if it were only started on the right lines.

Yours ever
J. L. Kelton

Why not the Savage
Stanley dinner?
Caldecott
is the beastly place!
