Dear Sir:—

There is a flycatcher in Northwestern Arkansas which is about seven inches long. It agrees perfectly with Miarchus mexicanus in having a broad dusky stripe of uniform width on the inner side of the shaft of the outer tail feathers. In most other respects it agrees with this species but its size seems to exclude it. Can you tell me what the bird is? I have at present only a single mounted museum specimen or I would send you the bird.

Very truly
Jerome McNeill
