Dear Sir: -

In reply to your letter referring to the Bulletin of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, there have been published six volumes, the first issue having been printed February 1917. This is printed monthly with the exception of the three summer months, July, August and September and there are approximately 100 pages to each volume, each issue containing from 8 - 12 pages. The Bulletin is edited by Winthrop Packard, Secretary and Francis H. Allen, Chairman of the Board of Directors. The contributors consist mainly of members of our Society who send in interesting and novel items and we also occasionally reprint items from other Nature magazines or Bulletins. The Bulletin is still current and I find on looking up our records that the McGill University has been receiving it since October 1921, having subscribed during that month. We are, however, sending you under another cover as many as possible of the back numbers. We have not any extra complete files other than one which we keep for the
