JACK AND JILL.

Jack and Jill
Went up the hill,
To fetch a pail of water
Jack fell down,
And broke his crown,
And Jill came tumbling after.

Then up Jack got,
And home did trot,
As fast as he could caper ;
Dame Gill did the job,
To plaster his nob
With vinegar and brown paper.

Then Jill came in,
And she did grin,
To see Jack's paper plaster ;
Her mother whipt her,
Across her knee,
For laughing at Jack's disaster.

This made Jill pout,
And she ran out,
And Jack did quickly follow,
They rode dog Ball,
Jill got a fall
How Jack did laugh and hollow.

The dame came out
To know all about,
Jill said that Jack was saucy,
Says Jack I'll tell
You how Jill fell,
And shew'd her nassy paisy.

Dame Gill did grin,
As she went in,
And Jill was plagu'd by Jack,
Will Goat came by,
And made Jack cry,
And knock'd him on his back.

Now Jill did laugh
And Jack did cry,
But his tears did soon abate,
Then Jill did say,
That they should play,
At sea-saw across the gate.

They sea-saw'd high,
They sea-saw'd low,
At length they both did tumble,
We both are down
We both must own,
Let neither of us grumble,

Then the next thing
They made a swing,
But Jill set up a big cry,
For the swing gave way,
In the midst of the play,
And threw her into the pigsty.

The sow came by,
Says Jack I'll try,
If I can't ride this prancer ;
He gave a jump,
On old sow's rump,
But she led him a droll dance, sir.

Sow ran and squall'd,
While Jack he bawl'd,
And Jill join'd in the choir,
Dog Ball being near,
Bit sow by the ear,
And threw Jack into the mire.

Tho' Jack was not hurt,
He was all over dirt,
I wish you had but seen him,
And how Jill did jump,
With him to the pump
And pump'd on him to clean him.

Hearing the rout,
Dame Gill came out,
With a horse whip from the door,
She laid it on Jack,
And poor Jill's back,
Until they both did roar.

Ball held sow's ear,
And both in rear,
Ran against old Dame and hit her
That she did fall,
Over sow and Ball,
How Jack and Jill did twitter.

And now all three,
Went in to see,
To put the place to right all,
Which done they sup,
Then drink a cup,
And wish you a good night all.
